

Building the Coaching Plan for a PBL Unit / Lesson

It is helpful to organize the strategies and resources you will need to coach the problem effectively. This coaching plan will help with organizing the activities in your unit or lesson.

Unit Title _____

Description of Action	Key Concepts, Questions and Generalizations	Resources for Inquiry and Direct Instruction	Authentic Assessments
(for example: types of student grouping; when materials are distributed, when D.I. takes place, etc.)	(this parallels with activities in column 1)	(list possible Internet sites, identify typics for D. I., etc.)	(for example: rubrics you may use)

Excerpted from “The Internet and Problem-Based Learning—Developing Solutions Through the Web”, by William J. Stepien, Peter J. Senn, William C. Stepien, 2000, p. 184