

"When I Was Born Website" Project Feedback

Peer Feedback:

1. Your group had an interesting and creative topic about "When I Was Born" which well connected all the ways of the advance organizer technique.

You have very nice designs with cool colors that provide a peaceful climate for readers to go through your whole project. The graphic organizer with different colors in circles is so attractive.

The site has many good links such as global forum with ePALS that help readers to explore and understand more about your product. Your site is more valuable because it sticks with standards and also includes rubrics and evaluation.

-Rosanne Le

2. Content and Technology – 4

We were impressed with the number of strategies that they used. They also used a lot of technology tools. Their presentation flowed well and they varied speakers nicely.

Meaningful Development of Ideas – 4

They did a nice job presenting the two levels of strategies: how they used their strategies to create the lesson/presentation and the strategies used in the student piece of the lesson.

References – 4

The information presented in the handout could have been much more precise, but they had an adequate amount of references.

Presentation Length – 4

-group 1: Karl, Sandy, Tracy, James

Faculty Feedback:

Built around the WebQuest format. Investigate where people were born. Nice thought-provoking ice breaker. Group used an additional tool (net meeting). Embedded multiple strategies and did a lot of process that created a strong final project. Integrated Advanced Organizers. Very powerful and innovative adaptation of multiple strategies.